

Terms and Conditions of Use

Every user of <http://www.digiron.be> shall declare that s/he expressly or tacitly agrees with the following terms and conditions of use:

1. The customer or user of this website (natural or legal person) shall be automatically subject to our terms and conditions of use when visiting the website and shall be automatically subject to our terms and conditions of sale upon undertaking a contractual obligation or placing an order with digiron.be.
2. The data, file and information provided via this website are the property of Digiron. Every user of the website shall refrain from changing, copying, translating, storing or editing these data in any other way, electronically or mechanically, without the prior, written consent of Digiron. The storage of these data, files and information shall be limited to what is necessary for the use of the website.
3. Digiron strives to provide correct and reliable information. It cannot be held responsible for the use made of these data by users or third parties. Digiron shall not be held liable for any direct or indirect damage users or third parties may suffer as a result of the inaccuracy of the information provided or the incorrect or injudicious use of the information provided by users or third parties. Links to other websites are included for information only. Digiron is not responsible for the existence or the content of these websites or the damage caused to users or third parties as a result of the use of these websites. Digiron may not be held liable by users or third parties for any errors or mistakes in the information provided or for the unavailability of the goods and/or services offered therein.
4. Digiron strives to keep the data posted on www.digiron.be always accessible to users at all times. However, Digiron cannot be held liable for the consequences of interruptions in the accessibility of these data for technical or other reasons or for the termination of certain services offered on the website.
5. The user should be aware that some signs, names and logos are legally protected as a trade name or trademark.
6. The nullity or invalidity of some or all of the provisions of these terms and conditions shall not result in the nullity or invalidity of the other provisions.
7. For the settlement of all disputes concerning these terms and conditions and the cases described therein, only Belgian law shall be applicable and the Dendermonde District Courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction.
8. Any and all changes to these terms and conditions shall be announced in advance via www.digiron.be or via email.

Terms and Conditions of Sale

General binding terms and conditions when placing an order:

1. All offers of Digiron.be shall be without obligation while stocks last. Digiron.be reserves the right to introduce price changes at any time.
2. The order agreement shall be concluded by means of an electronic order on the Digiron.be website and shall be validated and confirmed by Digiron.be when the order is placed. The customer shall then receive the necessary communication for payment and the further processing of his or her order.

3. Digiron.be displays as accurately as possible the information on the articles offered, such as descriptions, criteria and images. However, Digiron.be does not guarantee that all articles are in accordance with the given information. Deviations cannot give rise to the payment of compensation or cancellation of the order.

4. All prices mentioned on Digiron.be are in EURO, including VAT and administrative costs. The appropriate shipping costs on the total order shall be calculated according to the destination of the order at the end of the order. This amount shall be communicated before closing the order. Digiron.be reserves the right to deviate from these rates and to inform the customer accordingly by e-mail or telephone.

5. Digiron.be shall be entitled to cancel any order without reason due.

6. Payment of each order shall be made via Ogone or in advance by bank transfer. Digiron.be does not have its own module to store these data or to process the payment. Digiron.be can therefore under no circumstances be held responsible for possible fraud or damage that you may suffer as a result of payment by bank transfer or Ogone. Your order will be processed only after payment in full. Each payment must bear the order number. Digiron.be reserves the right to change the price of any item ordered but not paid, and thus to modify the outstanding order. As soon as the order is closed and paid for at the same active price conditions, the sale shall be closed and the price can no longer be changed. You will therefore not be able to claim a price that drops after said payment is made. The price shall not be adjusted if it rises either.

7. The terms of delivery indicated by Digiron.be are for information only. Digiron.be cannot be held responsible if this term is exceeded. The customer shall be informed of the reason for the delay if the term is exceeded by more than 1 week. The customer may then choose whether to change or cancel the backorder. Digiron.be shall nonetheless do everything in its power to deliver as soon as possible if the term is exceeded.

8. Ownership of the article shall be transferred only when the customer has fulfilled all his or her contractual obligations to Digiron.be and has thereby accepted the order.

9. Complaints shall be lodged by post. Digiron.be shall be required to answer every complaint as soon as possible.

10. Photographs ordered on Digiron.be shall be delivered to schools via Bpost. The shipment is therefore insured until received by the customer. Failure to accept or refuse the delivery in time shall result in the items being returned to Digiron.be. In such a case, Digiron.be shall charge the necessary shipping and administrative costs, calculated at € 7.5 inclusive of VAT for Belgium and € 10.5 inclusive of VAT for the Netherlands, separately from a new shipment of the purchased items. Needless to say, defects not covered by the manufacturer's warranty shall not constitute grounds for cancelling the purchase.

11. Due to the personalized nature of the products, any order placed with Digiron.be shall be final. Consequently, orders placed may not be cancelled.

12. In case of force majeure, Digiron.be shall not be required to fulfil its obligations towards the customer, and said obligations shall be suspended for the duration thereof. Force majeure shall be understood to mean any circumstance beyond Digiron.be's control as a result of which the obligation towards the customer is hindered in whole or in part.

Privacy policy

1. The processing of the personal details which Digiron obtains from you via www.digiron.be shall be subject to the Protection of Privacy as Regards the Processing of Personal Data Act of 8 December 1992.

2. Digiron collects personal data when registering on the website and when sending e-mails to obtain information. When you connect to our website to consult data or download files, we automatically collect the following data:

- the type of "domain" you use to access the Internet (e.g. .be) - the IP address assigned to you at the time of connection;
- date and time of access to the website;
- the pages consulted for a certain period of time;
- the browser used;
- the platform and/or operating system installed on the PC;
- the search engine and the key words used to find www.digiron.be; and
- the files downloaded.

These data are only used to gauge the number of visitors to the various sections of our website and to improve its content.

3. When consulting information stored in database format, an elementary form of cookies is used in order to transmit the answer to a question to the user who asked it. These cookies are completely harmless and disappear at the end of the session. When using this website, cookies can provide useful support, for example to show the user the new messages and reactions that have been added to the website since his or her last visit. These cookies are actually stored on the user's hard disk. The user shall be informed (in the "user agreement") if such cookies are used.

4. The personal data collected by us will only be included in a file and processed for our own information and publicity purposes. Digiron shall take the necessary measures to prevent any unauthorized use or use by third parties of these data.

5. The persons included in our data files shall have the right to peruse their personal data at all times and to have them corrected, on condition that they provide proof of their identity. Such correction shall be possible only after prior written request to that effect by the person concerned, subject to the possibilities granted to users of the website to indicate online corrections.

6. The persons included in our files shall also have the right to object at all times to the use of their data for commercial purposes.

7. The controller of the personal data of the users of <http://www.digiron.be> shall be Digiron.